Mader Group, an emerging player in the mining and civil industry, is revolutionizing the equipment landscape for local mining operations. Gaining significant grounds, Mader are supporting more than 30 sites across the United States, improving efficiency through enhanced maintenance solutions.

Servicing customers across 14 states, Mader provide sites access to flexible and rapid maintenance solutions during peak load periods by bridging unfilled occupation gaps for critical and time sensitive electrical and mechanical maintenance.

Mader help soften cyclical maintenance pressures and prolong the life of heavy equipment through top-quality refurbishment, repairs and services. With a team of specialists at their helm, the company has made bounds helping local mining operations across the country improve machine availability and all-round mineral productivity.

Mader Group Operations Manager, Alex Matters says that customers have been highly receptive to the company's new way of thinking and disruptive business model, which has been crucial to their success.

"With more than 100 mechanically-minded tradespeople and a large, fully-equipped fleet of service trucks ready to respond rapidly to site requests across 52 states, Mader bring a new way of thinking and breadth of experience to one of the oldest and most established industries in America."

“Additionally, our unique business offering has allowed us to respond to critical maintenance quickly, whilst tailoring tradespeople to the job at hand. We ensure that our customers receive the best fit on site, guaranteed,” Mr Matters commented.

Mader are able to provide localized support to both customers and employees alike, with offices situated in three locations; Fort Collins CO, Canonsburg PA, and Reno NV. With foundations being laid for future growth, Mader is changing the game by transforming their innovative business model into tangible results.

Solidifying their mark on the United States mining industry, Mader is proud to be an exhibitor at the 2021 International MINExpo, hosted in Las Vegas NV. Eager to collaborate with customers and develop long-lasting relationships, you will find Mader at Booth 1138.
